Welcome to our first-ever yearbook issue. You may be wondering, "What is a yearbook issue," and that's perfectly understandable considering the fact that you've probably never seen an actual yearbook since you graduated from high school or college.

Well, this issue is simply a yearbook for a city instead of a school, in this case Palm Coast. The biggest challenge in doing this, of course, is trying to find every group, club or association that's here in the city. It's easy if you're a school: you already know what's going to be in the yearbook.

With a city yearbook you've got to find all of the non-governmental groups that you need to fill up the photo section. It was relatively easy to get all of the photos that we needed from the city and other agencies: the city government, the sheriff's department and the fire department. Brittany Kershaw, Michael Lutz and Patrick Juliano were invaluable to us, as they coordinated dozens of photographs for us from the city, the Flagler County Sheriff's Office and the Palm Coast Fire Department respectively.

And the other people who stepped up for us were the people from all of the many clubs, groups and organizations that also found photos for us or had them taken before our deadline. We can't list you all here but please accept our thanks nonetheless.

Basically, we just want you to know that this was a group effort and that we greatly appreciate all of the help that we received from all of the people in our wonderful little town.

So we hope that you enjoy this issue and we apologize in advance for any groups that were left out. It wasn't our intention and we'll definitely correct any oversights when we do our next Palm Coast Yearbook in 2023.

Last Year's Happenings At A Glance

The annual year-in-review is a long-held tradition in journalism. People like to take a glimpse at what happened the year prior before engaging with the coming year. We at Palm Coast Magazine are honoring that tradition. Below we present Palm Coast highlights from 2022.

January

Two Flagler County firefighters started the new year delivering a premature infant at 6:02 PM on New Year's Day. Baby Sunnie was delivered by Lt. Jon Moscovitz and Firefighter/Paramedic Jimmy Melady. Sunnie was delivered 10 weeks early and weighed three pounds, five ounces to her mother, Traci Kuehn, and father, Brandon Smith.

The Flagler Access Center opened Jan. 11 at 103 E. Moody Blvd in Bunnell. The Center provides walk-in screening, crisis triage and outpatient treatment for behavioral health services. A $300,000 federal grant via the American Rescue Plan provided monies needed to renovate the space. A grant of $245,000 from the state funds the annual operating budget and staffing for the facility.

Joe Campanellie, a photographer from Palm Coast, was named to Team USA for the 2022 World Photographic Cup competition that was held in Rome, Italy, a couple months later March 28, 2022. Campanellie's image named, "Bad to the Bone," is a black and white of an eagle with focus on its majestic head with its wingspan in the background. The world cup competition is photography's version of the Olympics with photographers from around the world competing for gold, silver and bronze medals.

In not-so happy news, Flagler County set a record high for positive COVID cases with 1,469 cases the week of Jan. 10.

A 95,500 square-foot self-storage facility in the Hidden Lakes community was approved by the Palm Coast City Council despite vehement objections from area residents.

The Flagler County Village was launched on Jan. 24. The Village is sponsored by Flagler Cares and serves as a "one-stop" access center for various social services groups.

February

Frank Greer retired after 24 years with the U.S. Postal Service.

Edmund J. DiBianco, a World War II veteran having served at Normandy in the European Theater, celebrated his 106th birthday on Feb. 1 with family, friends, community leaders and fellow veterans at the VFW. He was injured in Northern France and received an honorable discharge in 1945.

The City Council approved a $109,417 contract to have an engineering firm, England-Thims & Miller, conduct a pedestrian accommodation feasibility study regarding several of the residential collector streets in Palm Coast.

Several officers and staff members from the Flagler County Sheriff's Department received recognition in February for service in the fourth quarter of 2021. Deputy First Class Marcus Dawson received the Valor Award for the October rescue of a three-year-old boy hiding under a blanket in a house fire.

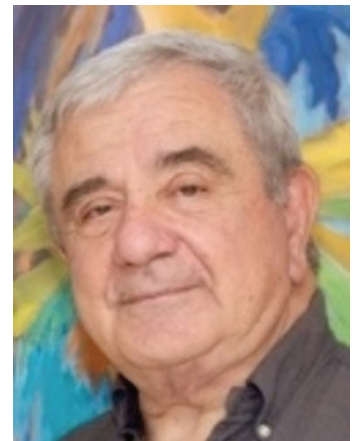

Certificates of Commendation were awarded to Communications Specialist Ashley Hicks, Communications Specialist Laimie Rittenour, Commander Lou Miceli, PAL Coordinator Kerri Henderson, Senior vs. Crime volunteer Evelyn Gomes, Communications Specialist First Class Joanna De Guzman, Chief David Williams, COP Paul Matarazzo and COP Bernard Kerschner.

Life-Saving Medals were awarded to DFC Christopher Crego, Deputies David Dichty, Talor Morgante, Communications Specialist Lucas Santos, Deputy Aaron Clay, Deputy Adam Bergman and Deputy Jasmine Slaga. Certificates of Appreciation were given to Judy Croteau, Kerri Henderson and Deputy Allyssa Narciso.

The Sheriff Citation Award was presented to Kerri Henderson. The Unit Citation was given to the members of the Flagler County Sheriffs Office Honor Guard.

Tom Garguilo, the "father of the arts" in Palm Coast and co-founder of the Garguilo Arts Foundation which generously supported the local arts scene died on Feb. 13. He was 83.

March

The Palm Coast City Council requested $3.14 million in state aid to facilitate the extension of main arterial roads west of US Highway 1.

Joe Rizzo, executive director of the Flagler County Education Association, died unexpectedly on March 6. He was 47 years old. Rizzo had been executive director for the past five years. Under his leadership, the FCEA grew significantly and was able to serve thousands of Flagler County at-risk and economically-disadvantaged students.

A new Flagler County Cultural Council was established with the mission of serving as an umbrella organization for more than 50 arts and cultural groups in the county. The new council's main mission is secure funding for these groups and promote art and culture in the county.

Palm Coast was named to be "The Best City to Retire in 2022" in the United States by the website, "Retirement Living." Factors considered included average mortgage rate, sales tax rate, senior care and affordability for those living on a fixed income as well as the availability of amenities such as golf courses, restaurants and shopping.

Caleb Struble, a Palm Coast lifeguard who suffered a spinal injury in July 2021, was welcomed home from rehabilitation in Atlanta. Struble, a Man-tazas High School senior, was eager to return to his classes and graduate at the end of the spring semester.

A partnership between the Flagler Technical College and the Sheriff Perry Hall Inmate Detention Center opened HVAC training for prisoners.

April

City council members opted to keep the plexiglass shields installed during the COVID-19 pandemic in customer service at City Hall in place.

Locals packed out the April 5

city council meeting presenting their push for additional aquatic facilities in Palm Coast.

Members of the Palm Coast City Council voted themselves a 151 percent pay raise at its April 19 meeting. The vote was 4 to 1 with Councilman Eddie Branquinho voting against. The council also approved a 164 percent raise for the city mayor. Supporters said the pay raise would attract more highly qualified applicants. Those opposed said the raise was too steep and asked the council members to delay the raise until after the November election.

Sheriff Rick Staly announced a 52 percent drop in the overall crime rate since 2017. The announcement was made right as the sheriffs office was preparing to move to its new location in Bunnell. Property crime is down 2.1 percent, but vehicle theft is on the rise mainly because in more than 40 percent of the cases, the vehicle's owner left the keys in the ignition in an unlocked car, according to Staly. In total, 997 crimes were documented in Flagler County in 2021 as compared to 1,849 in 2017.

Palm Coast firefighters freed a cat stuck in a car engine. The rescue occurred on April 19, which is also National Cat Lady Day.

May

Members of the Flagler County School Board considered updating the district's "walkout policy" based on a March student walkout protesting the Florida Parental Rights in Education bill that many in the media labelled as the "Don't Say Gay" legislation.

City council announced that Palm Coast area roads continue to deteriorate. In 2017, the area's roads received a rating of 79 out of 100 via the Pavement Condition Index. In 2021, the road score dropped to 75. Asphalt price increases outpaced the county's six-cent gas tax allocation earmarked for road repair.

AdventHealth unveiled its new transport helicopter for its Flight 1 program. The new helicopter is an Airbus EC145e and was expected to help the program meet increasing demand.

A dog name Rocky who was shot in the face in April was adopted to his "forever" home in mid-May. A bullet was shot through his snout and bottom lip and travelled through his neck, shoulder area and left front leg. An unidentified Flagler County Sheriffs Office employee adopted Rocky.

Teresa Rizzo, widow of Joe

Rizzo, who died in March, was named as the new executive director for the Flagler County Education Association, a position that her husband held until his death in March 2022.

A Bunnell grandmother proved she can powerlift with women half her age as she competed over Memorial Day weekend in the American Powerlifting Federation meet in Holly Hill. Kelly Schlobohm, age 51 at the time, squatted 423.5 pounds, benched 242 pounds and dead-lifted 440 pounds. She ranks 28th in the United States for women powerlifters of all ages.

Why Buy Local?

There are many reasons to support local merchants whenever possible. It can be difficult sometimes, for a number of reasons, but putting money back into your local community will also pay dividends that you might not think about.

For example:

How much money do companies not located in Palm Coast contribute to local charities and other non-profit organizations the way local businesses do?

The answer is none.

What about the advertising that local businesses buy to support kids' sports or other school activities like bands and choruses?

The answer is again none.

These are only two examples but there are many more benefits that local communities receive from their local businesses. So this holiday season, and for the rest of the year, please do what you can to support the local businesses you see in the pages of this magazine and any other local businesses that contribute so much to our life here in Palm Coast. Thanks.

Two green sea turtles were released back to the ocean on July 14 after receiving treatment for fibropapillomatosis, which is a viral disease causing tumors in turtles. Granny Smith and Artichoke received treatment at the University of Florida Whitney Laboratory for Marine Bioscience's Sea Turtle Hospital.

After receiving many complaints to the sheriffs office and reading a series of letters to the editor of the local paper, Flagler County Sheriff Rick Staly decided to clear the air regarding city, county and state laws regarding the use of fireworks.

Turns out the law is on the side of those wanting to ignite fireworks.

August

Sheriff Rick Staly sent a “cease and desist” letter to Alan Lowe, a then candidate for Palm Coast City Council District 2 demanding that Lowe stop using images of Staly in his campaign.

October

Residents began cleanup after Hurricane Ian stormed across the state and into the Atlantic Ocean. More than 200 homes in Flagler County had minor damage while seven others sustained significant damage. The storm caused three to six feet of beach erosion in The Hammock where large sections of coquina were left exposed. The storm provided city officials with the opportunity to use a new app designed to calculate the loss of beach sand.

Mayor David Alfin declared October 14 to be, “Chief Jerry Forte Appreciation Day.” Forte worked for the Palm Coast Fire Department for 32 years having worked his way up the ranks to become chief.

Forty dogs and one cat were blessed on October 1 by Reverend Robert Goolsby of the St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Palm Coast in the annual Blessing of the Animals.

The planning board gave its thumbs-up approval to the County Commissioners for two new housing developments. The Wexford development is slated for 81 houses on 39 acres between I-95 and Old Kings Road. The Scenic Cove development planned for 19 acres off North Oceanshore is expected to have 56 single family homes.

Florida Governor Ron DeSantis toured Flagler County beaches getting a first-hand look at damage caused by Hurricane Ian. County officials estimate more than a half million cubic yards of sand was lost in the storm. Estimated replacement value is between $35 and $40 million,

The Palm Coast zoning and planning unanimously voted against altering plans at the Harborside Inn and Marina citing that the proposed changes would put the project in violation of density laws and would create parking and traffic problems.

November

Technology, Engineering and Math).

A Palm Coast woman caught a 1 pound, 7.68-ounce Florida pompano fish in waters off St. Simons Island in Georgia. The catch by Cathy Sanders tied the Georgia state record for that species.

An 11-year-old Palm Coast boy took fourth place with his catch of a 37-inch redfish at the Kids Can Fish Tournament also in waters off St. Simons Island, Georgia.

Members of the Flagler County Sheriffs Department and the Palm Coast Fire Department participated in a joint active shooter response training program

Residents prepared for the arrival of Tropical Storm Nicole. The storm’s slow-churning wind and rain caused an estimated $13.3 million in damage at Flagler Beach with an $9.2 million in Flagler County.

Sheriff deputies took on an active role in protecting poll workers in the 2022 election in Flagler County. Several poll workers reported feeling threatened. Deputies escorted the poll workers to and from their homes while early and day of election occurred.

Palm Coast City Council members voted on November 15 unanimously to sue the contractors of the splash pad at Holland Park. The splash pad’s surface began to delaminate shortly after the pad opened. City officials had to close it for safety reasons. Mediation between the city and representatives of the contractors failed to reach an agreement in mid-November. The suit being brought could be a bit cumbersome with 64 different contractors, subcontractors, engineers, and architects having been part of the construction process. As of mid-November, the city estimates losses at the park to be at least $1.4 million.

December

A feminine note was added to the history of the Palm Coast City Council as two women were installed to its membership at the council's Dec. 6 business meeting. Theresa Carli Pontieri now represents District 2 and Cathy Heighter – also the council's first African-American female member – now represents District 4.

Flagler County Engineer Faith Alkhatib announced that her department secured $12.6 million to replenish damage to the county's beaches during the 2022 hurricane season.

The new Flagler County Sheriff's Office Operations and District 3 building had a grand opening ceremony on Monday, Dec. 19. The new facility will consolidate many aspects of the sheriff's office into one location, where they have been spread out across the county.

"I've been homeless for four years," Staly said. "So I'm ready for a home."

'Tis the season for foolish criminal activity: From the cop's report, a pawn and jewelry store robbery perplexed officers in that the only missing item was a firearm. All the jewelry was left behind in the Dec. 8 heist. More than a thousand dollars of alcohol was stolen from a Palm Coast grocery store on Dec. 4. An 11-month undercover narcotics investigation begun in January resulted in the naming of 35 suspects and the arrest of 18 of those individuals. On Dec. 8, the Flagler County Sheriff's Office held a press conference announcing the results of "Operation: Santa's Naughty Little Sellers" in which 24 search warrants facilitated the seizure of $5.7 million of illegal drugs, firearms and thousands in cash.

2022 Yearbook

The road to creating this yearbook has been a long strange trip. The idea of publishing a city yearbook first occurred to me in 1982 while I owned Material World Publishing, a small company in Portland, Maine. Fresh on the heels of publishing a successful magazine to mark the 350th anniversary of the founding of the city of Portland (1632-1982), I came up with the idea of publishing a yearbook for the city.

For a number of reasons it never came to fruition but the idea was always in the back of my head. Now, finally, after 40 more years of publishing magazines in the U.S. and overseas, I've had the opportunity to bring this idea to reality.

We realize that we have almost certainly left out some groups or organizations that we would have wanted to be included but it wasn't easy for us to identify all of the private groups that are in the area so we ask for your indulgence if we neglected to mention any group or organization you are involved in. It certainly wasn't intentional and we ask that you contact us as soon as possible so that you'll be in on our database going forward. That's because we have plans to publish another yearbook next year and many more afterwards.

So we hope that you enjoy what we've created and please, if you can, let us know what you think. We always welcome feedback of any kind (see our email address on page 4) and it always helps us to get better. Hope everyone had a good holiday season and have a great 2023.
